Hi everyone. What is the status of this trip? If Dennis decides to go to discuss 404 requirements and possibilities with the tribes other local entities, I would very much like our program to be present as well. I would like to attend with Phil and/or Michael though I realize that is probably too many people. Ex. 5 - Deliberative

Dear Ms. Holsman, Ms. Tyler, Ms. Thomas, and Ms. Anderson-Carnahan,

I reached Luki Akelkok this afternoon. For purposes of his invitation of April 14 to Mr. McLerran, Mr. Akelkok has asked me to send to you the attached contact information. It is for six tribes in the Nushagak and Kvichak drainages, AIFMA, and TU, all of which I assist, and which are among a much greater pool of people concerned about a potential Pebble mine in the Bristol Bay drainages of Southwest Alaska.

Mr. Akelkok is also the chair of Nunamta Aulukestai (which means "Caretakers of Our Land"). It is a conservation entity formed by nine ANCSA village corporations in the area of the Nushagak drainage in Southwest Alaska. Mr. Akelkok could assure that Nunamta, and other interested parties, are also represented. In other words, you at EPA, the six Tribes, AIFMA and TU could work cooperatively to assemble representatives of tribal governments and other interests that could be representative of local, tribal, village corporate/conservation, commercial fishing, and recreational interests in the area. And they could assure that others are present beyond my clients who have initiated a 404(c) request.

Mr. Akelkok asked that Richard King, the tribal administrator for the Ekwok Village Council, be a contact person. You'll find his contact information on the attached. Please feel free to deal directly with my eight clients regarding any meeting that arises out of Mr. Akelkok's invitation, and just cc me. I understand that EPA's Administrator, Lisa Jackson, may visit Alaska this summer and that, if so, at least some would hope that she could visit the Bristol Bay drainages. Obviously, Mr. Akelkok would extend his invitation to Ms. Jackson, too.

Finally, reaching people can be difficult in Southwest Alaska during the summer. If I can assist, please advise.

Sincerely,

Geoffrey Y. Parker

Dear Ms. Holsman and Ms. Tyler,

I am forwarding Luki Akelkok's invitation, dated April 14, 2010.

After I talk to Luki, I will forward contact information per his request.

Thank you for helping.
